“Predicting Conflict Occurrence Using Search History Data” (with David Cunningham)

“The Illusion of Precision” (with Karsten Donnay)

“A Break from the Past: why mapping deviations in diplomatic networks reveal shifts in foreign policy strategies” (with Michael Joseph)

“Collective wisdom under the shadow of authority: membership diversity and authority in virtual groups”

“Measuring Tactical Variation within Violent Non-state Organizations”

INVITED TALKS

2019 Conflict Event History Data and Prediction, Central Intelligence Agency (Summer)

2019 Predicting Conflict Occurrence Using Search History Data, Facebook, Washington DC office (Spring)

PRESENTATIONS

2019 Membership Diversity and Tactical Variation, American Political Science Association, Annual Meeting (Fall)

2019 Gender Norms and Violent Behavior in a Virtual World, Politics and Computational Social Science, Annual Meeting (Fall)

2019 Predicting Conflict Occurrence using Search History Data, International Studies Association, Annual Meeting (Spring)

2018 Advancing Measurement in the Study of Conflict and Political Violence, Preconference Workshop, Peace Science Society, Annual Meeting (Fall)

2017 A Break from the Past: why mapping deviations in diplomatic networks reveals shifts in foreign policy strategies, International Studies Association, Annual Meeting (Spring) & Peace Science Society, Annual Meeting (Fall)

2016 An Automated Aggregation of Geo-coded Violent and Non-violent Conflict Events, Peace Science Society, Annual Meeting (Fall)

2016 Integrating African Conflict Event Data, American Political Science Association, Annual Meeting (Fall)

- 2016 MELTT: Matching Event Data by Location, Time, and Type, The Society for Political Methodology, Annual Meeting (Summer)
- 2016 MELTT: Matching Event Data by Location, Time, and Type, Midwest Political Science Association, Annual Meeting (Spring)
- 2015 Providing to Compete: An Examination of Social Welfare Provisions by Regime Change Movements, Midwest Political Science Association, Annual Meeting (Spring)

SOFTWARE DEVELOPMENT

MELTT: Merging Event Data by Location, Time, and Type (with Karsten Donnay)

An R package that offers a methodology for systematically integrating disparate geospatial event data by leveraging information on spatio-temporal co-occurrence and event-specific metadata.

<https://cran.r-project.org/web/packages/meltt/index.html>

Qualify: An R Package for Transparent Data Generation

An R package that allows users to generate customizable user interface for data entry and collection. The packages makes deploying data collection projects across an array of coders easy and tracks all meta-data about how data entries are coded.

PROFESSIONAL AFFILIATIONS

Affiliated Faculty – Massive Data Institution (MDI), Georgetown University

Affiliated Faculty – Interdisciplinary Laboratory of Computational Social Science (ILCSS), University of Maryland, College Park

Consortium Member - A Global Registry of Violent Deaths (GReVD), Brookings Institution and Stockholm International Peace Research Institute (SIPRI).

Fellow - Ed Snider Center for Enterprise and Markets, Smith School of Business, University of Maryland, College Park

Partner – Center for Global Data (www.centerforglobaldata.org)

Member – American Political Science Association; Peace Science Association

TEACHING
