

Figure counts the number of features activated per event. The natural log is reported for scale.

The diagonal axis describes the total count for each feature while the off-diagonal cells describe the mixture of different feature mixtures.

Dashed boundaries on the cells denote target profiles and solid lines denote weapons.